Resolution No. 13

Instream Flow In Estuarine Environment

WHEREAS, the International Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies recognizes the importance of maintaining instream flows to support fish and wildlife in both freshwater and estuarine environments; and

WHEREAS, present methods for quantifying instream flows are applicable only to the freshwater environment; and

WHEREAS, there remains the need to develop methods for quantifying instream flows to support fish and wildlife in the estuarine environment;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the International Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies hereby recognizes the need for, and urges state and federal fish and wildlife agencies to initiate and pursue, a cooperative effort to develop methods for determining instream flow requirements that will support fish and wildlife in the estuarine environment;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that copies of this resolution be sent to the Governor of each of the Coastal and Great Lakes States, to the Director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Chief of the Army Corps of Engineers, the Director of the Bureau of Reclamation, the Chief of the Soil Conservation Service and such other agencies as may have a jurisdictional interest in the issue.

Appreciation To New Mexico

WHEREAS, the success of any meeting depends greatly upon the efforts and services of the host organization; and

WHEREAS, the 71st Annual Meeting of the International Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies has been a great success; and

WHEREAS, the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish, through Director Harold Olson and the staff of the Department, have provided excellent facilities, unexcelled hospitality, and cheerful assistance, all of which have contributed to make this a highly productive and pleasurable meeting;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the International Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies expresses its sincere gratitude to the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish, its Director and staff, and commends all those organizations and individuals involved for their personal efforts in making this meeting an outstanding and memorable event.
